LEADERSHIP SERIES SEMINARS – DESCRIPTION

September 25 - Alejandra Bunster

Session Title: “Creativity in Education”

Program Description:

Alejandra E. Bunster will present Fairytales From Historic Florida: “A whimsical and inspiring to introduce content and an invitation to use creativity in education”- a book series that include exercises in creative expression to develop creativity, as well as educational facts on South Florida’s conservation. She will discuss the importance of developing creativity in education.

Presenter Bio:

Alejandra E. Bunster is a theater director, author, paper collage artist, and an educator. Her love for traveling, nature, and the cultures of the world has taken her across all continents -except Antarctica- both for work and for self-discovery. She lived in Paris many years and graduated from La Sorbonne Nouvelle Paris III in History and Theater Studies. Author of Un Taller de Teatro commissioned and pioneered by the Chilean Ministry of Education to add Creative Expression to the school curriculum and the series Fairytales from Historic Florida . Mrs. Bunster is a firm believer that everyone should experience the joy of discovering and expressing their own creative potential .Worked in the Theater Department at The New World School of the Arts, teaching High School and College. Presently works at Carrollton School of the Sacred Heart, developing Creativity in Education and teaching Creative Expression.

October 30, 2018 –Tony Vincent

Session Title: “Plunge into Graphic Design for Educators”

Program Description:

Educators make visuals everyday—newsletters, social media posts, graphic organizers, flyers... Let’s jump into how you can captivate, inform, and inspire students, parents, and colleagues with the documents you design. Learn simple ways to give your designs a more polished and personalized look. Explore the value of arranging, aligning, and distributing. Discover where to find hand-picked color schemes, copyright friendly images, and delightful font combinations. Whether you prefer Google Slides, Google Drawings, Keynote, or PowerPoint, taking this plunge into visual design will give you ideas and tools to use any time you dive into creating a document. Bring a laptop and its power cord so you can fully participate in the plunge.

Presenter Bio:

Tony Vincent is a true teacher’s presenter. After years of self-employment as an education and technology presenter, Tony went back to the classroom to teach fifth grade in Council Bluffs, Iowa for the 2018-2019 school year. While he’s proud to have lead workshops and presentations in almost all 50 states, empowering his students to be creative communicators is his favorite professional accomplishment. Tony is a prolific sharer, approachable, and consistently selects practical tools and strategies that can be implemented right away. To see what Tony shares online, click on over to learninginhand.com where you can explore his website and find his social media links. And, if you spend a little time with Tony, you're likely to hear about his adorable six year old twins.
